

From: Danielle Smith nee Burt <yulgilbarcastle@hotmail.com>
Sent: Sunday, 1 October 2017 6:45 PM
To: Policy MailIn

The penalties are weak, so are the judges enforcing them. The Australian government needs to be vigilant with enforcing that the judges apply the maximum penalty to send a clear message to these putrid humans who are preying on our children in Australia.

I suggest the removal of safe cells for these child rapists; they should not be given more rights than their fellow criminals in the general population in goal.

Remove the ability for them and their families to seek compensation for injuries sustained or death whilst in goal.

And the job is done.

I am the community and you need to start reflecting what the community expects from you.

Thank you
Danielle

Sent from my Samsung Galaxy smartphone.